

11:46

Zachary >

It's from me. I've heard from at least one business who emails us frequently.

2) I suppose hardest hit could work...

3) well they are effectively in a full lockdown because business is down 75%-90% in some cases. My example is personal care. Almost all appointments are cancelled

Ok. Still too early but point taken. Let's track for now.

I think this moment is quite opportune to do something!

If it persists somewhat

Unfortunately, no. We don't have the rationale to do so. One business, who could qualify for HHRBP, raising it does not justify it. Also questions of why we need to put money here (and not the province or city) and precedence.

Can't get ahead of these things without data and rationale.

iMessage

